Verse 1

I remember it like it was yesterday 'Cause it was
And I was letting the sun and the rum just do what it does
I threw my phone in the water little push off the dock
She was packing her bags I was popping a top

Chorus

Is she gone for the summer, gone for the night
Gone for the weekend or the rest of my life
Was she laughing, was she crying as she walked away
I can't say
I was on a boat that day
The river was rolling I was getting my float on
She was telling me so long I was already so long gone
Hey, hey

Verse 2

She could've been halfway to Houston, but I didn't care
I was drunk as a skunk eating lunch with a cross-eyed bear
You been there
She was looking for something, better than me
I was looking for nothing just riding the breeze
